THE ENDLESS LIFE

What have the poets to tell us about life after death? Do they give us any grounds for a deeper confidence in the survival of human personality? Great poems are confessions of faith. Have the great poets any faith in immor-tallty to confess? The sermon Sunday evening at the Congregational church will seek to answer these questions. It is the third in the series dealing with the problem of personal immortality. The public is invited.

OgdenBusiness SOLDIER IS ROBBED OF $50

HE MET A FAIR DAMSEL WHO SAID, HELLO.

When They Parted She Had His Money and He Had Her Smile and He Said "Durn It!"

A snowy-haired, battle-scarred hero two wars, Private Beals of Canfornia, complained to the police de-partment yesterday that he had been robbed by a siren of the bad lands scraped an acquaintance with him on the street Friday night and in some manner, not known to him, separate 1 him from about $50 in coin of the years of age, but is still a sturdy, ac-tive old "war horse" who defles de-creptitude and, until his experience of Friday evening, has defied femininity in general as he is still a bachelor can recite tale after tale of "hairbreadth 'scapes near the imminent deadly breech," in skirmishes with the Confederate Price while a member of the Seventh Iowa cavalry ot 61, to running fights with the Sious and Arapahoes on the plains of Ne braska when Julesburg was Fort Sedg wick, and Cottonwood Springs was the metropolitan center of the frontier. Not in all his experience, how-ever, has chance or mis-chance ever eparated him from any of his hard arned gold without his personal sanc ion until his ill-fated adventure of

Friday evening. Beals was returning to California from a visit to his old home in Iowa, and stopped off in Ogden over night. intending to resume his journey to-day. He visited various saloons on lower Twenty-fifth street and shortly afterward was accosted by a female of striking appearance who apparently took almost a daughterly interest in him and his safety. During the brief conversation which followed, Beals, accompanied by his "protector," pro-ceeded about a block and then separated. Soon after bidding the charmer adieu, however, Beals took a cas ual inventory of cash on hand and found that he was penniless.

"I suspect the hussy got it all right said he, "but she must have been a slick one to have taken it out of my pocket without my knowing it. Durn it! I've traveled this country over from one end to the other a score of times and I've been up against about every game a soldier and Indian fight-er can find, but I never got touched n this manner before and I never will again. I suppose I was tanked up a little, all right, or I wouldn't have been talkin' to the hussy. Well, she's welcome to it. A man who learns as much as I have in the last 15 hours for $50, is gettin' off cheap. I wired home for more money this morning and got it within a few hours. Now I'm going back to forget all about Ogen and my little experience here Gress you've got some pretty slick vomen here, alright."

An effort is being made by the po-lice to apprehend the woman who turned the trick on Beals and there is a possibility of her being found and forced to disgorge her plunder.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS OF WORLD'S MARKETS

OPENING ARE LOWER

New York, March 20.-Prices of tocks moved to a lower level in the opening dealings today which were in light volume. The changes also were small as a rule. Colorado & Southern, and Amalgamated Copper lost a point. Sympathetic weakness spread through the list when an active sell-ing movement began in Reading. That stock declined over a point, touching 127 5-8. Losses otherwise were restricted to fractions. The local trac-tions continued their downward course. Covering by the shorts on the Reading and a rise of one in Great Northern preferred and 1 1-2 in North-ern Pacific pulled up the list afterwards.

The market closed, barely steady, but lifeless. The drift of prices was downward again in the second hour, but the movement was held within the previous limit. Brooklyn Union Gas rose 3, and Toledo, St. Louis & West ern preferred 1. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie and American Malting preferred declined 1.
